TAFT FORDS THE STREAM TO KEEP DATE SET FOR SPEECH AT BULL RUN BATTLEFIELD

President Journeys to Manassas
In Blinding Rainstorm.

SENATORS CAUGHT IN FLOOD

Taft Car Dashes Through One Raging
Torrent In Safety, but Turns Back
at Second After Archie Butt Wades
In to Shoulders to Sound Depth.
Arrives at Bull Run Celebration
Two Hours Late and Discourses
on Peace.

Washington, July 22.—In a fleet of seven automobiles President Taft and party advanced on Bull Run battlefield, 35 miles from here. In a driving rainstorm the five advance automobiles were left on the road from Washington to Manassas,
and three senators, a solicitor
general, three secret service operatives and some newspaper correspondents were stranded in the middle of streams or upon muddy hills en route.

President Taft arrived in Manassas,
where he was to address the Union and Confederate veterans of the civil war at the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Bull Run, two hours late. Of the entire presidential force of automobiles, only two arrived in Manassas, and one of these carried the president.

The trip was the roughest the president has ever experienced. When only a few miles out of Washington
the rain began to fall in torrents.

ARREST THE HUSBAND OF MURDERED WOMAN KILLED IN JOY RIDE

Cousin Tells Damaging Story
About Young Beattie.

ADMITS HE BOUGHT SHOTGUN

Richmond, Va., July 22.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was arrested in connection with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie, who was shot while she and her husband
were automobiling Tuesday night.

Other incidents were the detention of his cousin, Paul Beattie; the confession by Paul Beattie that on July 15 he purchased a shotgun at the request of his cousin and gave it with four shells to Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.; the attempt of Paul Beattie to end his life and being thrown into convulsions; the placing of Henry Clay Beattie upon the witness stand before the coroner's jury, and the testimony of Miss Buelah Binford,
"the other woman in the case," were features in the murder mystery
which shocked Richmond and Manchester.

The arrest of Henry Clay Beattie,

Jr., took place during the lunch hour of the coroner's jury. He was taken in charge by Detective McMahon,
who had secured a sworn statement
from Paul Beattie that he had purchased a shotgun for H. C. Beattie, Jr., last Saturday. For what purpose his cousin wanted the shotgun he did not know. When the same detective took Paul Beattie in charge, the young man fainted. When he recovered, it is reported, he attempted to end his life, but friends interfered.
In convulsions and suffering from a hemorrhage, he was taken to the City home, under guard, where medical treatment was given him.

Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., stood up well under the arraignment, and emphatically denied any connection with the murder. He was permitted to go back to Coroner Loving's home,
where he resumed his testimony before the coroner's jury.

American Sportswoman Killed.

Paris, July 22.—Denise Moore, who is described as an American sports-woman, resident in Algiers, was killed at Henry Farman's aviation school at Mourmelon. She fell a distance of 120 feet. Miss Moore was trying for a pilot's license. She had made two successful flights and was on her third.
She had been a pupil of Farman for three weeks.

FRANK W. WOODS

Former Representative Wants to Help Make Constitution.

GETS IN THE RACE

Frank Woods Circulates Petition For Constitutional Delegate.

Medina, O., July 22.—Frank W.
Woods, author of the original Ohio
public utility bill defeated in the Seventy-eighth general assembly, has taken out nomination papers as Republican candidate for the nomination for delegate to the constitutional convention from Medina county.

Woods has served two terms in the Ohio house of representatives. He has been for several years regarded as one of the leaders of the progressive movement in Ohio. He was mentioned for the Republican nomination for governor last year. He was defeated for nomination to the state senate.

Cripple Wins Swimming Race.

Bellefontaine, O., July 22.—Roy Baker, a one-armed boy of Lakeview, won the free-for-all swimming race at the Indian Lake Yacht club carnival

SPEAKING IS CLOSED IN RECIPROCITY FIGHT SENATE WILL NOW VOTE

Senator La Follette Scores Newspapers and Taft.

SAYS PRESS IS PURCHASABLE

Washington, July 22.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, in his final speech in opposition to Canadian reciprocity, made a bitter attack on the newspapers of the country. He charged that the newspapers which advocated the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill were influenced by their desire to obtain free print paper.

"I believe, Mr. President, that the attitude of the press of this country upon this reciprocity measure will ultimately tend in a very considerable and marked degree to lessen the influence of the press."

"I am inclined to say that the press of the country has failed with regard to this measure in its duty to the public. I believe that the press of the country will suffer very greatly in the public estimation as a result of the attitude which it has taken upon a piece of legislation in which it has a direct money interest.
From my own experience I have seen the influence of the press very severely tested."

Roasts Wisconsin Papers.

"I recall one campaign in the state which I have the honor in part to represent upon this floor, in which the great body of the Republican press of the state sold its editorial columns. The Republican press of the state of Wisconsin in the campaign of 1902 very largely, almost entirely, sold its editorial columns to great interests, particularly the railroad interests. A bureau was organized and under cover these papers were edited by that bureau. I say it to you and I am entirely within bounds when I say it, that these were scarcely half a hundred country newspapers in the state that didn't surrender to them the great influence in that trying time. What was the result? In order to lay before the people of that state the facts

with respect to the failure of legislation and to the records of legislators
who had betrayed their constituents,
it necessitated the publishing of a campaign textbook. You could not get them into the papers that should have been open to the publication of matter which was of interest to their constituents."

Concludes With Rap at Taft.

Mr. LaFollette concluded with an attack upon President Taft. Addressing the Democrats, he said: "You know that the president has become enamored of this so-called Canadian reciprocity. He is led to believe that he has struck at last, after running the entire gamut, a popular chord
and it is the one thing on which he relies to, in some measure, restore his administration to favor. He counts on this bill being accepted in place of the reduction of duties which was promised in the platform of 1908. Nothing could tempt him to abandon reciprocity. It has been accepted by the public as signifying the tariff reductions, and it is expected that it will serve long enough to tide over the elections. Talk about his vetoing the reciprocity bill with a vision of the woolen schedule, added
to it as an amendment, is preposterous. You might as well expect a drowning man to relinquish his hold on a life preserver."

The senate will vote on the reciprocity bill and the amendments before the close of today's business.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE MAY CLOSE MINES

Everything at Standstill in Neighborhood of Cardiff.

Cardiff, July 22.—From present indications the strike of the seamen promises to put a complete stop to work in this city and vicinity. There are 16,000 men now on strike at this place, Barry and Newport. All of these ports are absolutely idle and not a ship entered or left any of the three. Many mines have been compelled to close down owing to the inactivity at the ports. If the collieries close down, as is expected, there will be more than 150,000 miners out of work.

The strike fever is infecting other trades, and numbers of men and women in the various employments have joined the strikers. The employes of four iron mills, a wagon factory, a flour mill, a brewery and a wire rope mill have quit work, and now the leaders threaten to stop work of every kind. The successes seem to show that the leaders will make good their threats.

There was a fierce fight and the mob tried to rush the stables of the London mounted police.

Millionaire's Wife a Domestic.

Chicago, July 22.—"Mrs. Catherine Porter," 52, domestic in the home of W. F. Hobbs, was killed in front of a speeding automobile. She was identified as the former Mrs. Catherine Edgar, divorced wife of Selwyn
C. Edgar, St. Louis multi-millionaire steel magnate.

Gates Is Restless.

Paris, July 22.—John W. Gates, physician, Dr. Goss, gave out a guarded statement about his patient's condition. He said that Mr. Gates' heart was better but that his kidneys were still a point of danger. Charles G.
Gates said that his father was restless, probably owing to the heat.

Explains Era Of High Prices

Parsons Blames Government's Meddling With Trusts as Cause.

New York, July 22.—That the sugar trust contributed $10,000 to the Republican campaign fund in 1892, because it desired Benjamin Harrison elected president over Grover Cleveland, was stated on the stand by John E. Parsons, former chief counsel for the trust. Parsons said he believed a corporation had just as much right to contribute to a campaign fund as an individual.

Parsons also insisted to the Hardwick congressional committee that the fight between the sugar trust and the Arbutle interests is still on. He justified rebating by the trust, for which it was fined $70,000, by insisting that it "earned the rebates before the law prohibiting them was passed."

"The sooner politicians realize that in their efforts to prevent the combination of capital they are increasing the prices of all commodities and that the dear public alone must be the sufferer," Parsons insisted, "the better it will be for this country."

Woman Drowned In Spring.

Toledo, O., July 22.—G. W. Weiss, a Cleveland cigar dealer, a guest at the Oak Ridge health resort, Green Springs, found the body of Anna P.
Shields, 60, Tiffin widow, floating in the sulphur springs. How she got there is not known. She had been suffering from a nervous collapse.

Columbus Shows Large Falling Off In Number of Saloons.

Columbus, O., July 22.—Liquor tax collections received at the state treasurer's office for the July settlement show that the number of saloons in Cleveland is on the increase,
while in Columbus they are decreas-ing. From Cleveland $318,422.39 was received as the state's share of the Akin tax for six months. In the January settlement the state received only $297,521.99. Columbus this time paid in $76,660, compared to $77,400
six months ago.

WILL BE A MEMORABLE DAY

The Committee Endeavoring to Secure Governor Harmon

Work on the Big Building is Progressing Rapidly and in a Satisfactory Manner. Good Program Arranged for the Day. Attorney
D. L. Thompson and Hon. C. A.
Reid Among Local Speakers on the Program.

Saturday, July 29th, promises to be the red letter day in the history of the Y. M. C. A. organization in Fayette county.

On that day, commencing at 3 o'clock p. m., the service appropriate to the laying of the corner-stone will occur.

The program committee, Mr. O. J.
Mobley and Mr. A. F. Hopkins have about completed arrangements for the services, which include the opening address by Mr. D. L. Thompson, who will be followed by Chas. A. Reid introducing Governor Harmon, who will next speak, if it is possible for him to be here on that day.

The Governor is now taking his much-needed vacation at Charlevoix,
Mich., and had not intended to return to this state until Monday following the 29th. The committee however, hopes that the Governor may be prevailed upon to cut his vacation short
two days and deliver an address here
on the 29th.

WASHINGTON'S NEW Y. M. C. A. HOME

CORNER STONE WILL BE LAID SATURDAY, JULY 29TH

The work of constructing this handsome new building is now well under way, and the laying of the corner stone, with appropriate ceremonies, will occur on next Saturday, July 29. The program arranged for that day's services is a particularly attractive one, and will mark a memorable period in the history of Washington C. H.

Laying the Corner Stone

line, however, the committee will make arrangements for some other speaker of note to follow Mr. Reid.

Then will follow the actual laying of the corner-stone which will be set about 3 1/2 feet above the sidewalk level at the northwest corner of the building facing Main street, and the cross alley to the north of the building.

The stone will be 16 x 25 1/2 inches in size and on the Main street side will be inscribed:

Christ for Man

19  11

Men for Christ

On the side next to the alley will be inscribed,

Y. M. C. A., founded 1844.

Organized in Washington C. H., 1910.

Corner-stone laid 1911.

Directly behind the corner-stone there will be set a copper box—an 8-inch cube—in which will be placed the latest issues of all the county newspapers—the names of the building architect and contractors and the building committee, together with a Bible and a short history of the local Y. M. C. A. organization.

The corner-stone will be of light blue marble.

The meaning of the emblem on the Main street facing of the stone is:

The circle signifies unity; the triangle, the three-fold man—Spirit, Mind and Body; the Bible open at John 17:21, "That they may all be one; even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be in us: that the world may believe that thou didst send me." The Greek letters (XP) are the first two in the name of Christ in Greek, an ancient and favorite monogram of the church. This was adopted in 1895.

Following the actual laying of the corner-stone all present will join in singing "Blest be the Tie that Binds." Rev. T. W. Locke, of Grace M. E. Church, will deliver the opening prayer and Rev. Hostetler, of the Christian Church, will pronounce the benediction.

Mr. Henry Brownell will preside during the services.

The work on the building which it is now expected will be ready for opening and formal dedication on January 1st, 1912, is progressing very satisfactorily and may now be said to be built up to a level with the second story floor.

An idea of its size and strength may be gained when it is known that there are ninety-five tons of iron and steel used in its construction and that the three big steel girders supporting the third floor above the big gymnasium weigh alone 5 1/2 tons each. All of the big columns are now in place and the rooms in the first floor and basement faced with yellow brick laid in yellow mortar present an attractive appearance.

A large crowd is expected to attend the services which will feature a day memorable in the county, and especially in the local Y. M. C. A. history, as the one upon which work on the actual accomplishment of a long cherished hope and laudable ambition, is pronounced to be well under way.

The history of the local organization and its work in this field is too fresh in the minds of the people to now need repetition.

The effects of the work is already discernable to all who look about them in an honest endeavor to see humanity growing better and the younger generation directed in wholesome, healthy, human manner, in the way it should go.

Announcement of the time and place of holding the services and the program arranged for will be made in each and every one of the churches throughout the county on Sunday next.

Lightning Bolt Destroys Barn

At 7:30 Friday night a bolt of lightning struck a big barn on the Henry Dearth, better known as the Stuckey farm, one-half mile north of Bloomingburg, and the structure was entirely consumed by fire within a very short time.

The big barn was filled with hay, grain and farming implements, and while there was some insurance, the loss is a heavy one to Mr. Dearth, who has not owned the farm but a short time.

The fire attracted hundreds of persons, and the citizens of Bloomingburg turned out en masse, watching the fierce flames lick up the barn. It is supposed that a bolt of lightning struck the building, as a storm was in progress at the time.

It required hard work to save other outbuildings between the barn and the house, but through the efforts of a bucket brigade the fire was confined to the barn.

The loss will reach above $1500, owing to the large quantity of hay and farming implements in the barn.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JAMES BEATTY.

There was a large attendance of family friends and neighbors at the funeral of Mrs. Ary Caroline Beatty, widow of the late James Beatty, at the home of her son, T. T. Beatty, of Selden, Friday.

Rev. Ricketts, of Staunton, conducted simple and effective services and Mrs. J. B. Marks and Mrs. Geo. Cline were the singers.

A long line of carriages accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for the interment.

Acting as pall-bearers were Messrs. J. B. Marks, Oscar Wike, William Burnett, Albert Slagle, A. C. Nisley, Jack Nisley.

Capt. and Mrs. Bostwick, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bostwick, of Mt. Sterling, were down for the funeral.

Lincoln Legion Department Will Open Series of Meetings Beginning Saturday, July 29

A great Union Gospel Temperance Revival, under the auspices of the Lincoln Legion, is to be inaugurated next Saturday, July the 29th, in this city.

The Federal Council of Churches, representing 18,000,000 churches at its decennial meeting at Philadelphia in 1908, called for a "Campaign of Temperance Pledge signing" by the young and old. The Anti-Saloon League, which is simply the whole church arrayed against intemperance through its Lincoln Legion department, has undertaken this important work. Already the churches of all denominations are co-operating in launching through their Sunday schools, the impetus to sign the "Lincoln Legion Pledge," whereby the signer enrolls with the Lincoln Legion and signs the following pledge:

"Whereas, the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is productive of pauperism, degradation and crime, and believing it is our duty to discourage that which produces more evil than good, we, therefore, pledge ourselves to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage."

The Lincoln Legion calls for a million recruits before 1914. What better monument to Abraham Lincoln can be built than to extend unto the millions the signers of the pledge which he wrote, signed and advocated.

All over the country this revival is being agitated. Owing to the heat it has been decided to conduct an open-air campaign. Rev. James S. Bitler, D. D., evangelist, preacher, lecturer, a man strong in temperance activities, the advance agent of the movement and was here making arrangements to fire the opening gun next Saturday night. He went on to Ironton today to open the field there.

Following the opening meeting of Saturday night, next Sunday, July 30th will mean a day set apart to this work, all churches co-operating. A union meeting of the M. E. & Presbyterian churches will be held in the Presbyterian church in the morning, and a mammoth open-air meeting Sunday night.

The Sunday schools of the Presbyterian, M. E., Baptist and Christian churches will be addressed at their regular services in the morning.

Rev. Milo G. Kelsor, assistant general secretary of the National Lincoln Legion, will speak at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and Rev. M. J. Swearingen at the Baptist church. Both speakers will conduct the open-air Sunday night meeting.

A successful campaign was launched at Troy last Sunday and another will be at Greenville tomorrow.

Christian Parsonage Wrecked in Storm.

The new Christian parsonage, located near the Christian church in New Holland, was wrecked by the heavy storm which swept over that part of the country Friday evening about 5:30 o'clock.

The parsonage was under course of construction with only the frame work up. The wind twisted and completely wrecked the structure, scattering the timbers about in utter confusion.

A number of trees, hay stacks and ricks, fences, etc., suffered from the severe wind storm also.

Miss Dorothy Fullerton is entertaining Miss Eulah Norton, of Greenfield.

Miss Grace Thompson returned Friday night from a ten days' visit with Mrs. Mark Mechlin, in Sinking Springs.

Mark Mechlin came up from Sinking Springs on business last night.

LOCAL MAN IS SELECTED THE ANCIENT GAME FAILS FOR VICTIM OF SWINDLERS

Mr. William Davenport, of This City, Has an Interesting Experience at the Hands of Designing Conspirators Who Fail to Rope Him--Letters Turned Over to the Public--Reads Like Romance.

Imprisoned Prince Game.

A tentacle of one of the most gigantic swindles of the age has just reached into this city for victims, but reached at least one man who cannot be duped by the promise of an independent fortune for a little expenditure.

Mr. William Davenport, 502 East Temple street is the man the rascals have tried to swindle, but they made a decided failure in interesting Mr. Davenport in their scheme, and he passes the scheme up as all do who wish to keep from being "stung".

The scheme in brief is that a wealthy Russian Banker is in prison in Spain and his baggage, containing papers worth $480,000 are in the hands of the court, but can be released by the payment of a certain amount. The fellow writes to his "friend" that if he will pay this amount and help get him out of prison, he will give him $160,000 for his assistance. The "friend" is to cable a "person of confidence" who is to take the matter up.

"It's a great scheme, and has been the means of extorting money from a great many persons throughout the United States. The letter written to Mr. Davenport was sent from Madrid, Spain, and reads:

"Madrid (Spain), the 7-7-11.

Dear Sir:—Although I know you only from good references of your honesty, my sad situation compels me to reveal to you an important affair in which you can procure a modest fortune, saving at the same time that of my darling daughter.

Before being imprisoned here I was established as a banker in Russia as you will see by the enclosed article about me of many English newspa-

THE ROBINSON CIRCUS LARGE CROWD IN THE CITY ARRIVED THIS MORNING

Robinson's big circus arrived in this city from Xenia shortly after day light this morning, coming over the C. H. & D. railroad and unloading at the Main street crossing, where hundreds of people watched the interesting process of unloading one of the world's greatest shows.

In Xenia the continued rains caused much inconvenience and kept many people from the show during the evening, but the afternoon performance was attended by a mom-moth crowd.

As soon as the long trains stopped here the work of unloading commenced and continued until late in the morning, while the big tents were soon being raised on the old fair grounds.

The parade was a good one, and was viewed by an enormous crowd which lined the streets throughout the business part of the city and along the line of parade. The rains of Friday put an end to all thrashing, giving every one an opportunity to come to the city to see the show, and it seems that every one did come, as the crowd was a record breaker.

This afternoon the big tents are packed with people who are enjoying the show to the limit, and another big audience will be in attendance tonight.

Show day, always a big one in this city, surpassed itself so far today, and the Robinson Circus management certainly cannot complain of lack of interest and attendance.

A serious accident was narrowly averted this morning when one of the heaviest wagons in being removed from the car, broke the restraining ropes and dashed down to the street, barely missing a score of persons who were watching the show unload. H. C. Teachnor's automobile was standing almost in the wagon's path, but escaped damage. It was a close call for several, and there was more than one blanched face.

visitors were treated with great consideration and were shown all over the grounds and circusmen were busy replying to many questions and inquiries about the animals, tents, equipment, horses, etc. The ten polar bears attracted most attention and Marguerite's performing lions also shared the curiosity, but these were only incidents as there was so much to see and investigate.

The horse stables attracted much attention and praise for the excellent condition of the stock.

The John Robinson show is a circus by itself, a class of its own and one that you will enjoy. The show is a combined circus, trained animals, hippodrome, wild west and horse fair, the whole forming a lavishly opulent exhibit, with tents and all paraphernalia new, just brought out regardless of expense.

John Robinson's shows offers a vast array of expensive features, among them Professor Albers and his polar bears and Marguerite and her lions from the New York Hippodrome; the Five Da Comas' aerial act; William Demott and Eunice Sharpe, famous equestrians; the Howard family of acrobats, the Ash Trio, trapeze artists; four aerial teeth swinging acts at one time, including Geneva Davis and Tugus, the Robettas, Helen Leach and Berry and Tills, Warren Travis, the strongest man in the world, and "Upsidedown Smith," a wonderful balancer. The Sioux and Apache Indians, Texas cowboys and girls, the United States cavalry and the Cossacks are all to be seen in thrilling races, competing for supremacy.

Especially pride is taken by the management in its extraordinary outfit of clowns and their antics kept the crowd constantly in good humor. Free attractions will be repeated before the opening of the evening performances. At midnight the white city will vanish from sight with the same celerity with which it appeared.

John Robinson is particularly anxious

KILL MORE THAN WILD BEASTS.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. Hanging on the "23" Sign Over Six Score Leave City Big Exodus of Undesirables

An examination of the records and unused affidavits on file at Mayor Allen's office discloses the remarkable fact that during the past 18 months, just 133 disreputable characters have found the city too warm and have shaken the dust from their heels by hurrying elsewhere.

Of this large number many sought safety in flight when they became aware that their arrest was about to take place; others were given until a certain time to make themselves scarce, and still others given their choice of paying a fine or leaving the city. The stack of affidavits for those who took the hint just in time to escape arrest, is a surprisingly large one.

Of the 133 undesirable citizens who have been forced to leave because of crime, 29 were bootleggers; 14 were gamblers and nearly 25 were persons who had been living in unlawful relations. Charges against others were vagrancy, assault and battery, larceny, drunk and disorderly conduct, lewd conduct, and other charges of like nature.

That these undesirables must remain away or take the consequences upon returning is attested by the return of a disreputable character against whom a fine was standing, suspended only while she remained out of the city, and who returned one night—sometime ago, and the next night was in the workhouse.

Taking the above facts into consideration, it is little wonder that the number of arrests each month show a remarkable shrinkage from previous years, and it is a most undesirable bunch that have been compelled to seek other locations where crime abounds.

THE WARRANT IS HERE GET EXTRADITION PAPERS. FOR TWIGGS ALIAS DAVIS

Friday afternoon Chief Devaney received a communication from the Chief of Police at Huntington, W. Va., enclosing a warrant for J. R. Twigg, alias C. H. Davis, and insuring him being held here until the extradition papers are secured and Davis is returned to his home town to face the music.

Davis is the man who was arrested Thursday evening for forgery, and who is now confined in the county jail. The affidavit received Friday was made by G. M. Conway, and alleged that Twigg or Davis had uttered a promissory note purporting to be signed by Ernest Sherman, and payable to the order of The State Loan Company, for the sum of $47.25.

The offense is said to have occurred on May 1st, 1911, and the affidavit was filed July 19th.

Chief Davis, of Huntington also said to hold Davis, as extradition papers were being secured and he would be removed soon.

More False Reports About Circus Parade

Some unknown prattler stated again the story on the streets Saturday morning that there would be no parade because the authorities had demanded $200 or $300 from the show before they would be permitted upon the streets, but this was a fake this year as it was last year.

When the license was issued to the show several weeks ago a contract was entered into wherein the privilege of the streets for parade purposes, was given the show, and the story of the unusual demand was preposterous and only a reflection upon the person who started it.

THE DEATH OF STRANG.

Poor Lewis Strang, the automobile driver and racer, whose feats of daring in handling the big racing cars have thrilled thousands and thousands of surfeited pleasure seekers, flirited once too often with death and paid the awful penalty which the laws of nature demand of those who set at defiance her decrees.

The name of Lewis Strang has stood for several years, wherever motor racing is known, as the synonym for unbridled courage or daring as many prefer to stamp it.

It is but fitting that such a career should be closed, while Strang, young in years, but old in the game which thrills, was at the very zenith of his fame and engaged in the play with death which had so long fascinated him to the exclusion of everything else in life.

To the apparently uncontrollable desire to drive at a mad pace whenever he got hold of the steering gear of an auto this man sacrificed everything in life, including his wife, and on Thursday his life.

It is peculiar though that this hero of hundreds of speed contests in which the hearts of spectators were chilled with his open defiance of death should meet his death in a staid, old reliability race, but such was fate's decree.

His car overturned off an embankment 20 miles from Richland Center, in Southern Wisconsin. Others in the machine escaped injury but the young racer was crushed under the foot-board.

So hotly in the veins of Lewis Strang ran the desire for speed that it forced into subordination all other considerations.

Since the beautiful woman, known on the stage as Louise Alexander, divorced him on the principal ground that he was too heedless of his life and hers, Strang appeared even more careless of death. He became a demon on the track and on the road seemed totally incapable of keeping a car down to moderate speed.

In the tragic death of this thrilling entertainer of the amusement hungry American people there is repeated, in awful positiveness, the old, old story of once too often.

Those who stay with the game will forfeit their lives sooner or later and the most astounding thing about it is that the gymnasts of the air and the daring men of the speedway seem fully conscious of that fact and still they play in the game with nature using the loaded dice.

The fascination of it all, the uncontrollable desire to outstrip those as daring as themselves, the applause of the multitude keeps them intoxicated until death as a rule ends all.

FIREBUG TRUST.

One of the most astounding bits of news, even in this day, when people have grown accustomed to expect almost anything, is the publication of the facts revealed by State Fire Marshal C. J. Doyle, of Illinois, of a gigantic, country-wide firebug conspiracy, the greatest the world has ever seen and rivaling in the network of its plot the most elaborate of Arabian Nights tales. The statements made astounded members of the Chicago Association of Commerce Wednesday at its weekly luncheon. With its head in Kansas City, one arm in Chicago and its tentacles of destruction defying the law in more than a dozen large cities of the country, Mr. Doyle declared the State Fire Marshals of at least four different states have combined to wipe out the closely-banded gang of 15 criminals who are directing its operations.

This bit of news is about the most difficult to believe of any yet published. Still the energetic and conservative State Fire Marshal of the third state in the Union, announces his conclusions as facts and proceeds with cold and impartial logic to build his known facts into a block which disclose the finished edifice in all its hideousness.

It is needless to say that the plot which has fifteen men at its head is the greatest menace to life and property that has ever existed and that the Fire Marshals of four states, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia have joined hands with the Illinois Fire Marshal's office in an endeavor to find out and punish the real leaders in the gigantic criminal conspiracy.

The band operates by entering into a deal with a property owner who is financially embarrassed, agreeing to burn his buildings for him for a stipulated consideration in order that the owner may profit in the collection of the insurance carried.

The danger to other property, the awful chance of sacrificing human life, are but added features of monstrous proportions which intensify the crime originally planned.

For real, down-right daring and open wholesale defiance of all existing laws and forms of government, this firebug trust is entitled to the penant.

Speed the day when the organizer of this trust at least will face a term in prison.

There certainly can be no "reasonably" combination along that line any way.

POETRY
FOR TODAY

WHEN THE BABY GOES AWAY.

When he's playin' round me here he's just so daddurned small
I scarcely ever notice him, or see the tyke at all!—
When 'Retty scrubs an' dresses him
an' sends him off to play
He gathers up his playin' tools an'
takes himself away
Behind the house or down the road
an' there he stays for hours.
An' 'count of size, its purty hard t'
tell him from the flowers
The way he hides amongst 'em an'
goes traipsin' through the bloom—
In all the world he seems t' take a mighty little room!

He's only two, a-turnin' three—no
bigger than a pint!—
He couldn't tiptoe, seems t' me, above
the second j'int
Of that 'ere fence! An' when he goes through swing-gate over there
The roses on that droopin' bush just barely brush his hair!
He's just a little speck o' plink of a sort of rovin' kind
That hides amongst the flowers, an'
he's most too small t' find!— Amongst the heaps of other things
that bother men like me,
I guess I'd got the habit overlookin'
him, y' see.

But, now he's gone a-visitin', tell y'
what it's still!—
The robins chirp more softly an' the daddurned whippewill is mournfuller than common, an'
along the edge o' night
There's somethin' seems t' bubble up
an' clog my wizen tight!—
The sunset sort o' dodges me an' gives away t' gloom—
It seems t' me there's nothin' else in all the world but room!
An' judgin' from the void he's left around this lonesome place
That little bit o' feller fills an' awful lot o' space!

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Reaction From Cold Baths.

The beneficial effect of a cold bath is all in the reaction. Whenever reaction is feeble—that is,
when a pleasant feeling of warmth after a bath does not come quickly enough—one should proceed somewhat as follows:

If the bath is to be taken in the morning rise a half hour earlier and recover the bed so that the warmth of the body is retained in it. Take your bath then, rub yourself briskly with a Turkish towel and return as quickly as possible to the warm bed. In the greater majority of cases the return to the warm bed will insure the necessary reaction; if not it is a sign that the body had not enough resistance for this kind of treatment, and a physician should be consulted.

Washington, July 22.—E. G. Lewis, president of the Lewis Publishing company of St. Louis, testified before the house committee on expenditures

whereas a few years ago he was worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,- mittee.

Mr. Lewis told of what he called the persecution of the postoffice inspectors who had come into his plant, their attitude being, he said,
"that we were under some criminal charge." This was at the time of an investigation several years ago as to whether the company was entitled to second-class mailing privileges. The controversy between himself and the inspectors, Lewis testified, was so bitter that at times they almost came to blows.

Lewis is under indictment on 12
counts on charges of misusing the

YOUR BIBLE QUESTIONS WILL BE ANSWERED IN THESE COLUMNS, OR BY MAIL, IF SENT TO THE EDITOR OF THIS JOURNAL.

Q.—The Scriptures declare, "They shall be all taught of God" (John vi, 45). Does God teach each one of His children directly through His Word?

Answer.—God uses various instrumentalities for communicating His instructions. Thus the Lord Jesus Himself is called the Father's "Word"—the Message
the Logos (John i, 1; Revelation xix, 13). St. Paul speak-of Him, saying, "God, who at sundry times and in diver-manner spake in times past unto the fathers by his prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (Hebrews i, 1, 2). This message has been repeated by the Apostles. We read that when our Lord "ascended up on high He gave gifts unto men," and these gifts are still with us. He explains these gifts to be Apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers.
"For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the Body of Christ, until we come unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Ephesians iv, 8; 11-13). So we see that the instructions of God may come through His disciples,
teachers, evangelists, etc.; but they must all be recognized as emanating from the Father through the Son.

Q.—Was Job a real personage, or only an allegorical character?

Answer.—We believe Job to have been a real person
—a man. He is so referred to in the following Scriptures:
Job i, 1; Ezekiel xiv, 14-20; James v, 11. This does not alter the fact, however, that a great allegorical lesson is taught by Job's experiences. As a whole, his life represented the experiences of the human family in the loss of everything. Job lost his children, friends, home, health, the affections of his wife—all—and he was nigh unto destruction in the tomb. Then came the turning point.
He was restored to Divine favor and to all the blessings
which he had formerly enjoyed, and had more abundance than he ever had before. This pictures the experiences of the human race. Adam, in Eden, was perfect, joyful and rich in life and a perfect home. He lost all of these, being driven from Eden and compelled to battle with the sterile soil of the earth. By and by, when the "Restitution of all things, spoken by Jehovah through His holy prophets," shall have come to the world, the human race will likewise be restored to Divine favor and receive greater blessings than ever before experienced.

IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SPORT LETTER

Cincinnati, July 21, 1911.

Local followers of the game are all the qui vive for the return of the Reds to their own pasture next Sunday, July 23. They are wondering just what sort of line-up will be offered, and whether Manager Griffith, who has been at the steering wheel of the locals for nearly three years, will be out on the third base coaching line in uniform, as of yore. The past two weeks have been extremely strenuous ones in the history of the local team, and it would not be surprising to see considerable new talent offered the public for inspection when the first game after the present trip is called on the local lot on Sunday, with those strenuous Cardinals opposing the Reds. Rumors have been numerous as to prospective changes, and while none of these reports have been verified as yet, there is likely to be something doing along those lines before Sunday. One thing is certain—the owners of the Reds are not satisfied with the manner in which results have not been obtained of late, and the lovers of the sport can be certain that the last half of the season will see a much higher grade of sport offered by the Reds than was vouchsafed them during the earlier portion of the season. The best drawing card in the National League today is the aggregation over which Roger is holding the reins. When the season opened the St. Louis team was not taken seriously. It was made up of a number of men who had been gathered here and there in the big leagues with a sprinkling of comparatively unknown youngsters. A place near the end of the line was the best that was picked for the Cardinals. But with the cast-offs playing a better game than heretofore, and with the unknown pitchers delivering a superior and consistent grade of goods, the Cards have been moving right along, and now are so near the top that they must be considered in the race for the flag. The fact that the team contains quite a number of players who were formerly Reds makes their advent here doubly interesting, and the fans will flock out to see them during their engagement here, as well as to see what changes the local management contemplates in the team's line-up in order that it may make a hot finish. It is doubtful if any pitcher ever had the Indian sign on an opposing team with greater persistency and consecutiveness than has Christy

The Local Team Tackles Springfield Tomorrow at 2:30

Tomorrow, Sunday afternoon, at Millwood park, the local boys will battle in dead earnest in what promises to be a crackerjack baseball game with the Athletics of Springfield. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock. Admission 15 cents.

The local fans are hungry for a good game since the defeat at the hands of Wilmington two weeks ago, and the failure of the Xenia team to show up last Sunday and the battle tomorrow promises to be all that they can desire.

The Springfield bunch comes highly touted as a strong amateur organization far superior to the "Tiger" team of the Champion City, whose scalps dangle from the belts of the locals.

"Our boys" will put their strongest line up in the field resolved to win if possible.

Mathewson on the Reds. The locals have not won a game from this mighty twirler in nearly three seasons, he having a total string of 20 consecutive victories over them, with even a tie game to break the monotony of the defeats. There is no doubt that Mathewson is the big noise in keeping the Giants near the top of the heap and his work this season indicated that he still has some good work left in him. Mathewson expects to add to his record over the Reds when the New York come next week, following the Cardinals. The Brooklyn will succeed the New Yorks as local visitors, one of their games being scheduled for Sunday, July 30, while the Phillies will wind up the second visit of the Eastern teams with a game on Sunday, August 6, and three games subsequently.

Our chocolate-colored friend, Jack Johnson, seems to be out for the coin in real earnest during his present visit to the British possessions. Following the announcement that he will fight Paddy Curran, the Irish champion, for a purse of $25,000 and a side bet in August, comes the additional news that he has signed up to do battle with Bombadier Wells, the English heavyweight champion, for a purse of $40,000 and the world's championship, this battle to take place in England in September. Johnson must be pretty confident of wallowing Curran, for he did not hesitate to make the match with Wells without any stipulations regarding the Curran battle. Betting will be all in favor of Johnson, despite his immense overweight, for neither Curran nor Wells has ever shown reason to be considered in the same class with the colored man so far as fighting is concerned.

Both Packey McFarland, the American, and Freddie Welsh, the Welshman, are anxious to take from Ad Wolgast his honors as lightweight champion of the world. Both have sent in challenges, Welsh's being backed by some $20,000 put up by his British manager, while McFarland claims to have as much money at his command as Wolgast can cover. There seems to be some doubt as to McFarland's ability to make the lightweight limit of 133 pounds, but he himself declares that he can do it, and that he'll weigh in at or below that figure of the proposed Thanksgiving Day match is arranged. Wolgast says he's willing to meet both men in turn, and to give Owen Moran, who is complaining of his recent defeat, another chance also.

The only complaint made against the recent racing season at Latonia was that the jockeys were, as a rule, better suited to ride in broncho-busting contests than in horse races of the legitimate sort, the rough tactics indulged in by some of the boys causing the dope to go wrong on a number of occasions. In a general way, however, the meeting was the most satisfactory ever held at the local track. There was less talk of scandal, better attendance, more satisfaction with the betting system and a stricter supervision over the interests of the public than ever before. Under like conditions it is but natural that the racing game should grow in favor here and elsewhere. And there is every reason to believe that it will.

Ohio Happenings

Suspects Held Near Mansfield.
Mansfield, O., July 22.—Acting on instructions from immigration officers at Philadelphia, Health Officer T. C. Miller and Chief of Police E. M. Ertley found Batista Guiseppe and two women cholera suspects at Newman, three miles west of here, whence they had come from Philadelphia a few days ago. They had been detained at quarantine in Philadelphia but one day, and the officials feared they would develop the disease.

Investigate Husband's Acts.
Sebring, O., July 22.—Arthur Sturgess, 20, a pottery employee, is detained by Mayor Richard Jones pending the outcome of the critical illness of his wife, 27, who apparently is suffering from poisoning. They have a baby. Sturgess admits having purchased a drug recently, according to the mayor, but says that if his wife got any she did it without his knowledge. She is delirious and near death.

One Killed in Explosion.
Falls Junction, O., July 22.—One of the powder mills of the Austin Powder company, was completely destroyed by an explosion from some unknown cause. Charles Datcher was killed. The explosion failed to set off the other plants and powder storehouses in the vicinity, although enough force to frighten residents for miles around.

Millionaire Arrested.
New Philadelphia, O., July 22.—Contending that the pretty streets of their town weren't to be used for auto speeding, Jeanette and Margaret Baker, daughters of Canal Dover bankers, had John Rommell, millionaire brexer of Canton, arrested and fined because Rommell drove his big car through the public square at 50 miles an hour.

Taft Fords the Stream

One machine gave out on the way to Fairfax Courthouse and a hurry call was sent for a relief car from Washington.

Insists on Company.

The president insisted on taking the senators and the solicitor general along with his party, and after the relief car had arrived from Washington for the stranded members the entire party set out again for Bull Run battlefield. Immediately the torrents of rain continued. The air grew worse and worse. Each hill was higher and the roadway rougher which have scarcely been touched since the troops fled over them to Washington 50 years ago today, as the automobiles bumping up into the air with the president and senators holding on to their seats with grip determination, but it was not until they came to the little Roanoke Run ford, the historic stream which the Union troops crossed in disorder half a century ago, that disaster overtook the party. The president's car halted. Senator Brandegee and his colleagues, however, following the discretion of the executive, pushed their car down the hill and into the water. They were not a third of the way across before their magnetos were flooded and they were hopelessly stranded, with the torrent swishing over the floor of their machine. The chauffeur of the president's automobile, which is a steamer, backed to the top of the hill which approached the creek, put out his fire and coasting down the steep hill, went flying through the ford, throwing the water over the disgruntled senators in their shipwrecked car.

On the other side of the ford the fire in the president's car was relighted and they sailed away out of sight of the senators, who looked extremely disconsolate. Besides the president's car another steamer passed the ford successfully. For a mile the two machines raced down the muddy and rocky road until they were brought to a sudden halt by a second ford. Here the water was deeper and hissed as it rushed before the tourists.

Butt Proves Real Hero.
"I don't like to tackle that until I know how deep it is," said President Taft. Secretary Hillex was on his feet in a minute, loyally offering to wade the torrent to test its depth for his chief, but Major Archibald Butt, as the fearless man of war of the party was chosen above him, and removing his newly polished tan shoes and puttees, he hunched forward into the stream. The president and others in the auto shouted their encouragement as the gallant major continued cautiously to feel his way. Finally Major Butt was in up to his armpits, and he turned and signaled hopelessly to those on the shore. There apparently was no chance of crossing the swollen stream. Major Butt as he emerged from the river presented a doleful picture.

By this time the shipwrecked senators had been picked out of Little Rocky run and they again joined the presidential procession. Again the senators' car was stalled, and as the president's car sped past them he called out: "You are a rank lot of hand-patters."

The president finally reached Manassas two hours late, but the experience of the trip to Manassas was too much for President Taft to try to return in his automobile. A special train took him back to Washington. The president declared that a general arbitration treaty both with Great Britain and France probably would be signed within the next 10 days. He added that he hoped within the next few days to announce that the three other great powers would enter into similar agreements with the United States. He did not go so far as to indicate the nations he had in mind, but it was generally believed he referred to Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

SPLENDID ATTRACTIONS FOR CHAUTAUQUA.

With the record of five successive seasons, each one rivaling the past in growing interest and widening reputation, the Greenfield Tri-County Chautauqua Association is now anticipating the banner year in its Sixth annual assembly, to be held in Douglas Park, Greenfield, on August 3rd to 13th inclusive.

The Greenfield Tri-County Chautauqua Association is no longer a venture. It has become an established chautauqua to which large numbers of people are eagerly looking forward and which will afford an ideal summer vacation and outing with the opportunity for mental stimulus and interest as well as for the social intercourse.

For the first time the new auditorium was tested last year and admitted to be one of the best in the country. The beautiful grounds have also been undergoing improvements and Douglas Park, with its improvised streets, between rows of tents, its refreshing shade and cool breezes, will undoubtedly witness this year the largest crowd that has ever been assembled for the annual chautauqua.

Barring the camp features, and the pleasure of nearly two weeks of refined outing life, the splendid attractions booked for the Sixth Annual Chautauqua are great drawing cards.

To many the number of big men, prominent in the world of politics and on the lecture platform, who have been secured, makes the strongest appeal.

Hon. L. B. Stringer, the youngest man ever nominated for Governor of Illinois, the youngest ever holding a seat in the Illinois Legislature or ever elected to the State Senate, will be one of the notables heard from the rostrum. Another will be Governor Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina, a speaker of magnetic powers and said to greatly resemble the late President McKinley. Lou J. Beauchamp, "Everybody's friend," positively irresistible and ridiculously funny, will be one of the treats of the chautauqua.

Judge Frank P. Saddler, whose activity in many battles for good government in Chicago, and fearless disregard of political consequences, has given him enviable renown, and the first Senator from the new state of Oklahoma, Senator Thomas P. Gore, a brilliant orator, will be two lecturers who will draw great crowds.

Dr. L. G. Herbert is one of the lights of the platform and Rev. Geo. R. Stuart is said to have the fluency of Talmadge, the pathos of Moody and the humor of Sam Jones. Dr. Elijah P. Brown, the "Rams Horn Man," is an entertainer who entertains. Will B. Otwell, the "farmers' speaker," will bring the farmers in on Farmers' Day, Aug. 10th.

In addition to this galaxy of orators and famous men, there will be the best of musical attractions and entertainers, "The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party," nothing stereotyped in their repertoire; the "Lewis Company," Mrs. Lewis charming in personality and with a beautiful voice, and Mr. Lewis a fine baritone and story teller; the "Strollers' Quartet," not musical "pickups" but genuine musicians; the Ladies' Spanish Orchestra, an organization of talented artists; the Aristo Band of Ladies, and greatest musical card of all, Price's Premier Band of Greenfield, will furnish music throughout the chautauqua.

Among the entertainers are C. R. Taggart and Mrs. Lulu Tyler Gates, one of the great readers of today.

An attraction par excellence has been secured in Mr. Leroy Brown, who has had wide experience in the moving picture field and will exhibit moving pictures at the close of each evening's entertainment. A complete change of film will be shown each night, including dramas, comedies, travelogues, educational and Biblical plays and will be exhibited in the auditorium as the last number on the program as all the attractions, this is also free.

The entire park and auditorium will be brilliantly lighted by electric lights and all the chautauqua arrangements are on a big scale.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough, I tried everything I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free at Blackmer & Tanquary.

LANDOWNER BLOCKS
THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY
WINS THE FIGHT, TOO

A decidedly novel and unusual proceeding has just come to light in Union township. Mr. J. E. Andrews, living at Jonesboro, two miles west of this city on a road leading from the Wilmington pike to the Jamestown pike, constructed a fence across the road, claiming that the public was infringing upon his property, closing the road so that traffic has been held up since Wednesday.

Mr. Andrews owns a small tract of land where the Jonesboro road makes a sharp turn, and for a great many years the turn in the road has been creeping over on the Andrews property, and sometime ago when the commissioners constructed a culvert at the point, the culvert was partly on the Andrews' land. Mr. Andrews, after trying every plan he knew of to effect a sale of the land, or make some satisfactory arrangements for the use of it, constructed a fence upon the line, obstructing the road so that all who used it were compelled to turn about when they came to the fence. This caused some protest, and an appeal was made to the township trustees and the county commissioners for help.

The fence was constructed last Wednesday, and the road was blocked until late Friday evening when the township trustees paid Mr. Andrews $50 for the land, and the fence has been removed, throwing the road open to traffic once more.

Some delay was occasioned, however, when Abe Coler stepped forward with a lien on the property Mr. Andrews had disposed of, and would not release the property until the $50 had been paid to him, and after a good fence is constructed from the proceeds the remainder is to be turned over to Mr. Andrews. This was satisfactory all around, and the deal was closed accordingly.

The road was closed in the same manner last fall and Mr. Andrews wished to dispose of the property at that time, but a compromise was made in which the trustees paid $5 for lease of the property until Mr. Andrews and the trustees could agree upon a price for the land.

The commissioners took the affair up, and offered Mr. Andrews $50, but it was refused at that time. The fence had not been replaced until Wednesday, and then the trouble commenced. Owing to the turn in the road being at a point where a large ditch crosses the pike, it would have been necessary to construct a long cement culvert to afford a passageway if the fence had been allowed to remain.

WELL-KNOWN TRAVELING MAN
FRANK DYER IS STRICKEN.
SERIOUSLY ILL ON EXCURSION

Mrs. Walter Dyer, of Chillicothe, received a telegram from Mrs. Frank Dyer, asking her to notify her son, Walter, to come on to Alexandria, an island in the St. Lawrence river, at once as his father, Mr. Frank Dyer, also of Chillicothe, was seriously ill.

Mrs. Dyer after some difficulty located her husband at Morrow, Ohio, and he at once started for the bedside of his father.

The elder Mr. Dyer left this city Monday in charge of the Dahl-Millikan excursion to the Thousand Islands, up the St. Lawrence river, and had been complaining of not feeling well for several days prior to his departure. What the illness is in the present instance is not known, while rumor had it that he had suffered a stroke of apoplexy, relatives at Chillicothe seem to think that it is heart trouble which has caused his illness, at least that is what bothered him just before he left.

Mr. Dyer has many friends and acquaintances here in Washington where he formerly lived, who anxiously await news from his bedside, hoping that his condition is not as bad as reports seem to indicate.

APPROPRIATED IT.

“I don't think my husband loves me as he used to.”
“Why not?”
“He never thinks it a pleasure now to tie my shoe strong.”

“I understand that you owe everything to your wife,” said the tactless relative. “No,” answered Mr. Meekton, “but I will if I don't stop playing bridge with her and her mother.”

“Why were you fussing at the landlady?” “She gave me hard water to wash in.” “A little borax would have softened it.” “Nothing but Gre would have softened it, it was frozen.”

A coal miner in southern Ohio, who couldn't read nor write, recently received his pay envelope at the new mine. All that was written on it was “No. 16.”

The miner looked at the writing for a long time, then exclaimed, “That's a new way to spell George Primrose, I reckon!”

Stranger (in Drearhurst) — “Is there any place in this town where I can get something to drink?” Uncle Welby Gosh—“Yes, sir, unless you're mighty plained hard to please. There's four town pumps, a sulphur well, an' half a dozen places where you kin git root beer.”

A five-year-old boy who could not keep awake through a long sermon, suddenly became wide awake, and noticing that the minister was still preaching, inquired, “Mother, is it this Sunday or next Sunday?”

“For goodness' sake, Harry, why so sad?”

“The cook's left, but that isn't the worst of it; she took with her the recipe book for all the things John's mother used to make.”

“Pa, what is a political leader?”

“A man who is able to see which way the crowd is going, and follows with loud whoops in that direction.”

“Judge, did you ever try an absinthe frappe?”

“No; but I've tried a lot of fellows who have.”

SCMETHING ELSE.

Teacher—If you wear one pair of shoes three months, how long will two pairs last?

Jimmie—A year.

Teacher—Oh, no; how do you get that?

Jimmie—I dont wear any in the summer.—Judge.

Vicar's Wife—No, the vicar is ont in just now. Is there any message you would like me to give him when he returns?

Old Woman (cheerfully)—Please, mum, Martha Higgins would like to be buried at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Young Lady—(on first visit to Western ranch)—“For what purpose do you use that coil of line on your saddle?”

Cowpuncher—“That line, as you call it, lady, we use for catching cattle and horses.”

Young Lady—“I dare say. Now, may I ask what do you use for bait?”

“Have good weather on your camping trip?”

“You bet! There were enough sunny days to dry out all the bedclothes before the next rain came.”

The Professor—An ordinary brick will absorb a quart of water.

The Pugilist—Then my brother's no brick!

The Professor—What do you mean?

The Pugilist—He never absorbed that much water in his life.

Why She Struggled.

"That girl you rescued struggled a good bit," said the man on the boardwalk.

"Seems I was the wrong rescuer," said the man on the beach. "The chap for whose benefit she was sinking kindly explained matters just now."

Fame's Footsteps.

Lady—"And they say that once you trod the boards with the late Sir Henry Irving?"

Impecunious Rambler—"Yes, ma'am. Once when he was walking across a bridge I walked behind him."

HUCKLEBERRY CAKE—Rub together one quart of flour, three table-spoonfuls of butter and two-thirds of a teaspoonful of salt. Beat three eggs well together, add a cupful of milk and stir into the dry mixture, adding more milk, if needed, to make a very thick drop batter. Stir in one pint of huckleberries, which have been picked over, washed and well drained. Lastly, add three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and pour into a shallow, well-buttered pan. Bake in a quick oven. Split, butter and serve hot, passing cream with it.

Appropriate.

Mrs. Newpop—What's the baby crying for, I wonder?

Mr. Newpop—Oh, he tried to swallow my cuff links.

Mrs. Newpop—What did you do?

Mr. Newpop—Give him a couple of cuffs.

Things He Doesn't Say.

Laura—Why do you think Charles is fond of you? Has he said anything?

Grace—Oh, no, dear! But you should see the way in which he looks at me when I am not looking at him.

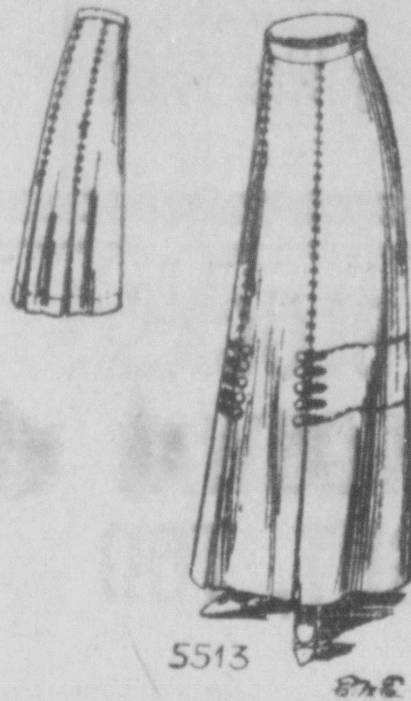

"That was a fierce punishment Swift got for overspeeding and not paying his fine."

"What did they do to him?"

"The prison yard was being repaved and they put Swift on as driver of the steam roller."

HERALD FASHIONS

A FOUR GORE SKIRT.

The four gore model is one of the most convenient for skirts of ordinary materials. The illustration shows us one which has the usual flat front and back and which is trimmed with a band which may be omitted. This style is good for cheviot, serge, linen, pongee and for many other wash materials as well as woollens.

The pattern (5513) is cut in sizes 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Medium size requires 4½ yards of 36 inch material, if made with the bands of 3½ yards the same width without the bands.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

The Wisdom of a Child.

The teacher was given a geography lesson, and the class, having traveled from London to Labrador, and from Thessaly to Timbuctoo, was thoroughly worn out.

"And now," said the teacher, "we come to Germany, the important country governed by the kaiser Tommy Jones, what is a kaiser?"

"Please—m," yawned Tommy Jones, "a stream of hot water springing up and disturbin' the earth."

The Trials of Age.

First Neighbor (a few centuries ago)—I hear the Methuselahs have moved into a larger house.

Second Neighbor—They had to do it; the old man told me he either had to do that or have an auction sale of his birthday presents.

Clergyman (examining a Sunday school class)—Now, can any of you tell me what are sins of omission?

Small Scholar—Please, sir, they're sins you ought to have committed, and haven't.

"Ah, what's this?" exclaimed the intelligent compositor: "Sermons in stones, books in the running brooks? That can't be right, I have it! He means 'Sermons in books, stones in the running brooks.' That's sense."—And that is how the writer found it.

Mrs. Prentice: "How do you always manage to have such delicious beef?"

Mrs. Bywell: "I select a good, honest butcher, and then stand by him."

Mrs. Prentice: "You mean that you give him all your trade?"

Mrs. Bywell: "No, I mean that I stand by him while he is cutting the meat."

As a countryman was sowing his field, two London bucks happened to be riding by. One of them, thinking to make fun of the old put (as they styled him), called out to him.

"Well, honest countryman, it is you that sow, but it's we that reap the fruit."

"Mayhap it may be so, master," bawled the countryman: "I am sowing hemp!"

In the weekly calendar published by a colored church in North Carolina appears a recommendation of the periodical literature of the denomination, from which we quote the following: "The Mayflower is a grand little nugget in a nutshell, and sweeps the field as it goes." The meaning is plain, but the exact concatenation seems Hibernian.

The story is told of John Wesley that sitting at a table spread with every luxury, he was joggled by his neighbor with the jocular remark:

"Ah, Brother Wesley, not much self-denial here."

"No," was the calm reply, "but a fine field for its exercise."

"I have reason to believe that Miss Smart has been trying to make a monkey of me." "Still, even at that she may have meant well."

"The man who knows just what he wants is bound to be successful." "Not half so much as the man who knows how to get what he wants."
